THE UNITED STATES CHARGES THAT:

COUNT ONE

(Conspiracy to Violate the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act)

1. Beginning in or before May 2004, the exact date being unknown to the United States, and continuing until on or about September 2012, in the District of Minnesota and elsewhere, defendant

PAUL CALDER LE ROUX,
a/k/a "Johan Smit" ("LE ROUX"), conspired and agreed, together and with others known and unknown to the United States, to commit an offense against the United States, that is, introduce and cause the introduction and delivery for introduction into interstate commerce from various locations in the United States, outside the District of Minnesota, to various locations in the United States, including the District of Minnesota, with the intent to defraud and mislead, prescription drugs, including the prescription drugs Fioricet (butilbital/acetaminophen/caffeine, and also known as Isocet), Soma (carisoprodol), and Ultram (tramadol), which were misbranded within the meaning of Title 21, United States Code, Section 353(b)(1), in that they were dispensed without the prescription of a practitioner licensed by law to administer such drug, in violation of Title 21, United States Code, Sections 331(a) and 333(a)(2).

2. The object of the conspiracy was for LE ROUX and his co-conspirators to obtain substantial revenues and profits by illegally offering for sale and selling – without valid prescriptions – prescription drugs, including Fioricet, Soma, and Ultram, via Internet websites and telephone call centers, and causing them to be shipped to consumers in the United States and elsewhere.

3. It was part of the conspiracy that LE ROUX and his co-conspirators, owned, operated, were affiliated with, and used Internet websites to market prescription drugs offered for sale through various businesses collectively known as RX Limited. RX Limited's marketing websites were linked via the Internet to RX Limited's Internet infrastructure and operating systems, and enabled customers to place drug orders over the Internet, or by various toll-free numbers listed on RX Limited's marketing websites, without a physical examination or doctor-patient relationship. LE ROUX was the founder and manager of RX Limited, and directed co-conspirators who handled the day-to-day management of the Internet pharmacy operation.

4. It was part of the conspiracy that customers chose the type, quantity, and dosage of prescription drugs the customer wished to purchase, and paid for drug orders with credit cards. RX Limited did not verify the information customers provided, including their identities, ages, and qualifying medical conditions, and RX Limited's customers did not provide medical records or any prior prescription to RX Limited.

5. It was further part of the conspiracy that LE ROUX and his co-conspirators recruited and paid physicians and pharmacies ("RX Limited physicians" and "RX Limited pharmacies") to authorize sham prescriptions and fraudulently dispense prescription drugs. In virtually all instances, RX Limited physicians had no contact with such customers, whether face-to-face, on the telephone, or by electronic mail, and retained no records of their purported "consultations."

6. LE ROUX and his co-conspirators also arranged and paid for the drugs to be shipped to customers through various shipping accounts with commercial carriers and the United States Postal Service. In doing so, LE ROUX and his co-conspirators unlawfully dispensed, caused to be dispensed, and aided and abetted the dispensing of prescription drugs to customers who lived throughout the United States, without (a) verifying the customer's medical complaint, (b) having an adequate patient history, (c) performing a mental or physical exam, (d) using appropriate diagnostic or laboratory testing, and (e) providing a means to monitor the customer's response to the medication.

7. It was further part of the conspiracy that through RX Limited's marketing websites, LE ROUX and his co-conspirators made various misrepresentations to customers, including that the websites provided a "valid means for patients to receive treatment" and obtain prescription medication by completing an online questionnaire without a physical examination, knowing this to be a false representation and knowing that the RX Limited scheme constituted an illegal method of dispensing, distributing, and obtaining prescription drugs in the United States. LE ROUX and his co-conspirators also used numerous aliases when interacting with RX Limited physicians and pharmacies, and with various other entities, including shipping services, banks, and telephone companies, in order to mask the true ownership and operation of RX Limited.

8. In furtherance of the conspiracy and to effect the objects thereof, LE ROUX and his co-conspirators committed the following overt acts, among others, in the State and District of Minnesota and elsewhere, as described in the chart below, in that they unlawfully caused to be dispensed, and aided the distribution of, the prescription drugs listed below, from an RX Limited pharmacy located outside Minnesota, to an undercover law enforcement investigator in Minnesota who, on or about the dates listed below, posed as an RX Limited customer and completed RX Limited's customer questionnaire by accessing the websites and customer-service telephone number listed below, without having a valid doctor-patient relationship with an RX Limited physician:
